USSR-EGYPT

[redacted] friction between Egyptian military officers and their Soviet advisers. [redacted]

50X1

50X1

[redacted] Egyptians are smarting under "negative criticism" and that the Soviet officers denigrate the capabilities of Egyptian officers and men.

50X1

50X1

[redacted] However unhappy, the Egyptians are not apt to allow ill will at this level to interfere with military operations or with intergovernmental relations.

Eight Soviet transport planes have arrived in Egypt since 25 February. This is the third series of such flights since November. Twelve aircraft flew in during the second half of that month, and 23 arrived between 18 and 28 January. At least three of the planes in the present series probably brought in Soviet technicians from the MIG-21 plant in Moscow. [redacted]

50X1

*Details of the cargoes are unknown, but we suspect that aviation and air defense equipment made up a good part of them.
The specialities of the technicians are also unknown, but Moscow may be planning to improve operational maintenance of the MIGs now in Egypt or even to modify the aircraft in light of combat experience.*

50X1

Laos: The military situation around the Plaine des Jarres remains essentially unchanged. The Communists are limiting themselves to minor probing activity. It may be a matter of weeks before the enemy can bring up enough men and supplies to make a more concerted effort against government positions south and west of the Plaine.

Philippines: Philippine security forces had little difficulty breaking up the attempt yesterday by about 1,000 student radicals to converge on the US Embassy. The attempt on the embassy was the outgrowth of a march of up to 10,000 in protest against a police raid on a college campus last week. More agitation against both the government and the embassy can be expected.

Malaysia: Uncertainties in the leadership are contributing to the government's failure to grapple with the host of problems left in the backwash of last year's communal outbreaks. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]
Rahman, who has been in the process of retiring for some years, is again talking of delaying his retirement, this time beyond the June date he had earlier led Razak to expect. [REDACTED]

50X6

50X6

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED] So far no significant opposition has emerged, but if the drift continues, trouble could develop, particularly in the military, where senior officers already admit to muttering on the part of those they describe as "hotheads."

UN-Rhodesia: London's request for a Security Council meeting on Rhodesia is probably intended to head off more radical African initiatives. The Africans will be torn between a resolution all of the permanent members can support and a more extreme one urging the UK to use force and possibly extending the economic sanctions against Rhodesia to include South Africa and Portuguese-ruled Mozambique. The continued presence of the US consulate in Salisbury will likely also be a sore point with the Africans

The Council meeting was to have taken place today, but the Africans obtained a delay, no doubt to get their tactics sorted out.
